

Introduce yourselves around your table, and then have fun answering these questions together. Anyone who is a “winner” for each question can help themselves to a piece of candy from the bowl in the center of the table. Enjoy!

Who . . .

1. had a “first time” school transition in their family this Fall? (i.e. first time sending someone to pre-school? Kindergarten? Middle school? High School? College?)
2. drove the farthest for a family vacation this summer? (Flying counts only if no one at your table drove.)
3. had the most number of kids (other than their own) playing at their house at one time, this summer?
4. has made a personal transition this Fall? (i.e. going back to work; staying home full or part time; moved to a new house; starting a new position; beginning to homeschool; no longer homeschooling; etc.)
5. has acquired a new pet since last spring?
6. has added someone to their household since last spring? (i.e. new child; parent; friend; boarder; etc.)
7. crossed something off their summer “to-do” list? (Yes, because it was completed!)
8. finished a book of their own choosing this summer?
9. made the most number of drop-offs today?
10. is wearing a badge of motherhood in the form of some sort of smudge or smear on your clothing, from the food or bodily secretion of a child?
